

mile one way for the round trip; tickets will be sold Aug. 20 and 21st, final limit Aug. 26th 1901, continuous passage in each direction.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. E. Payne of 1630 10th St. N. W. entertained the Misses Martha Webster, Mary Haydur Nora Wilson, Mary Allen, and Miss Gibson, charming school maidens of the old Blue Grass State, to tea on Sunday Eve, Aug. 19th. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. James L. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Davis, Messrs W. L. Houston, H. P. Slaughter, U. L. Houston and Hon. John C. Dancy, Collector of Customs at North Carolina. The young ladies after having spent two weeks at Atlantic City stopped over here a few days and were extensively entertained by their friends of the Kentucky colony.

THE BRIGHTON ASSEMBLY.

Atlantic City, August 14, 1901.

While mentioning the various social functions that have taken place here this season, none will scarcely surpass the one given at Fitzgerald's Auditorium Wednesday evening under the auspices of Brighton Assembly.

Undo elaboration was put upon the decoration, producing a delightful scenery and healthy effects. From 8 to 10 o'clock dramatic and musical program was rendered by a well known artists from Philadelphia. Mr. A. H. Jackson, manager of the famous Quaker City Dramatic Club had, the affair in charge and it was mainly due to his well directed efforts that this portion of the entertainment was so successfully carried out. The following artists took the respective parts: Mrs. T. H. Jackson in "Two can play at that Game." The "Lower Scene" from L. Traviatore, Miss Ida Burrell and Mr. Chas. J. Mahoney. The participants in these two selections quickly demonstrated the fact they were stars and soon won the universal appreciation of all present applause, after applause evidenced that popularity furthering the idea that more than a passing glance was being paid to the pronounced manner in which these difficult parts were being handled.

Entrancing music and delicate dress apparel were also pleasant attributes to the comfort and grace of the evening. Vase scene from L. Traviatore as rendered by Mr. Chas. J. Mahoney and Miss Ida Burrell was appropriately unique and cleverly represented. Miss M. L. Delasparre the pleasing young elocutionist won popular favor as Lucey Krundel in the petite comedy adapted from the French entitled "Two can play at that Game." The male contingents in this were Messrs. H. C. Warren and A. H. Jackson, who had excellently equipped themselves in their line of business. The appointments were simply handsome and under the personal direction of Mr. Jas. Latimer, Atlantic City's peerless and famous floral artist. Beauty and enchantment hardly describes the spectacle superinduced by the manner in which Mr. Latimer conducted his genius. American bunting and Atlantic City color consisting of adulterated yellow and green were delightful and refreshing to the eye and lent a peculiar charm to the restlessness of the occasion.

Between 11:30 the grand march was announced in which at least a hundred couples responded. From this time until 2:00 the regular ball was in progress and grew weary from the fatigue of the dance, Prof. Fred Fareman's expert concert orchestra furnished music and cared very little for intermission. Somewhat elegant were the costumes, reflected much prominence of taste and refinement showing conclusively the drift and the calibre of the guests in abundance.

TECHNICALITIES OF THE LAW.

A divorce granted after the commission of a crime against a third person by a husband is held in state vs. Kodat (Mo.), 51 L. R. A. 509, not to make the former wife a competent witness against him respecting such crime or conversations with the husband during marriage.

A merchant who gives to a designated class of customers an opportunity to secure by lot or chance any article of value additional to that for which such customers have paid is held in Meyers vs. state (Ga.), 51 L. R. A. 496, to violate a penal statute against lotteries or other schemes or devices for hazarding money or any valuable thing.

A broker through whose efforts a binding contract is made for land between his principal and the owner of the land is held in the case of Roche vs. Smith (Mass.), 51 L. R. A. 510, to have earned his commission, although the owner cannot make good title because of encumbrances not known to the broker. The remedy of the principal is held to be against the third person.

A person seeking passage on an electric street car, who signals the car to stop and then attempts to cross the track to get on the proper side for boarding the car and is struck by it, is held in Walker vs. St. Paul City Railway company (Minn.), 51 L. R. A. 632, not to be guilty of negligence as matter of law, but to have a right to assume that proper signals will be regarded.

A statute of limitations on a demand certificate of deposit is held in Mereness vs. First national bank (Ia.), 51 L. R. A. 410, to commence to run at the date of the certificate, since it is no more nor less than a promissory note; and the running of the statute is not interrupted by the death of the depositor, or by knowingly false representations by the bank amounting to a denial of liability.

The Sturdy Pine-Tree.

The New England pine, which Emerson so loved, appears, according to the recent investigations of Prof. G. E. Stone, to be holding its own in the forests of central Massachusetts, while some of its old competitors, like the hemlock, the beech and the canoe birch, have decreased, other species taking their place. "The pine," says Prof. Stone, "can adapt itself to a great variety of conditions."—Youth's Companion.

Carrion in Warfare.

During the sieges of medieval times it was very common for the beleaguers to throw from their catapults and other military engines dead bodies of dogs, swine, together with pieces of horse flesh and similar carrion into the city or castle besieged, in order that the defenders might, by the stench of this putridity, be forced to a surrender.—Indianapolis News.
